

SELL OUT CONTINUES

GROVELLING PRIME MINISTER John Major considers the Asian vote so important (large) that last month he took a trip to India on a barely concealed ploy to woo Asian voters in Britain. Early on the trip, he was mobbed by delighted Asians in Calcutta who all know that Major is the true friend of the immigrant — and who will do his best to let them all in. After all, it was Major who offered 3 million Hong Kong Chinese the right of abode in Britain and immigration into Britain continues at around 100,000 per year.

Major finally blew it when he met Khyber Pass tribesmen and went into overdrive by wearing the most ridiculous headgear ever seen on a British Prime Minister. 'Millions of Britons watched their TV sets in disbelief as he appeared to have more in common with Carry On figure Charles Hawtrey than as a British statesman. It was too much even for pro-immigrant newspaper The Mirror, which captured the national mood perfectly on its front page with references to 'currying favour' and the heartfelt wish for Major to 'Carry On up the Khyber' and stay there.

Upon his return to Britain, Major attended a celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of independence for India and Pakistan — seven months before the actual date of 15 August. Why? To 'curry favour' (once again) with Asian voters in Britain. Several questions arise: First, if Asians are "just as British as you or I" to quote John Major from last year, why do they feel the need to celebrate independence for India and Pakistan — both foreign countries? Second, to what degree has this country of ours been given away when the Asian vote is so important, that is to say large? Thirdly, do not the pictures shown on this page demonstrate, if ever it needed demonstrating again, that the Tories are the great betrayers of our national life — culturally, economically and racially?

The Tories are quite determined to turn this country into a third world slum. By the government's own figures, the numbers of immigrants in Britain has risen by 1½ million over the last eighteen years, and these are, of course, only the 'fiddled' figures. The real level is undoubtedly higher. As said in January's BN, the Tories are the party of sell-out and treason.

NO ALTERNATIVE?

White people in Britain display a remarkable ability to leave their brains in neutral when it comes to vitally important matters that affect the whole nation. Ask Joe Public if he would care to place a small wager on the honesty of his politicians and he would of course refuse. Ask him how much faith he has in either Labour or the Tories to improve his standard of living and you'll find he has very little. Ask him again if he thinks that those parties might represent his views on capital punishment, immigration and the asylum seeker scandals or the gradual drift towards a European government and he will tell you that they most certainly do not.

But come the General Election he will again put the future of the nation and his own family's well-being and security into the hands of those he would not even back with a small wager to deliver their promises.

Is Joe Public terminally stupid? Certainly, many are to be sure. But many more feel they have no alternative. It is up to the BNP to provide that alternative, and realistically while not more than a modest percentage will be won to nationalism in the short term, the election this year and the showing that the party will make will encourage others to believe that there is an alternative.

A decent showing in the forthcoming General Election, together with hundreds of new members and activists as a result, will give the BNP a huge lift and enable the party to mount bigger and stronger challenges to the old gang politicians.

Success breeds success. It has happened on the continent. Nationalist parties in Italy, France, Austria and Belgium present credible governments in waiting.

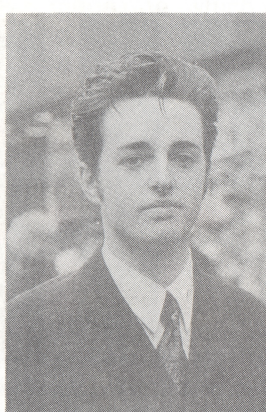

It will take only a little encouragement for vast numbers to support the BNP. When that happens, the process will take on a momentum of its own. Even larger numbers will vote and support the party until the British people are able to kick the whole sorry spectacle of today's betrayal and defeat into the dustbin of history.

THE PARTY OF THE FAMILY?

Some time ago, the Tories used to pretend to be the party of family values. Tory men in particular took great care to publicise photographs of themselves, their wives and children to reinforce their commitment to 'family values'. Unfortunately, so many of them were found in the beds of other women and even other men, that it all wore a bit thin and the 'back to basics' theme was scrapped.

So rife were these goings-on that Steven Norris, MP for Epping, and incidentally the Minister for Transport, earned himself the title 'Shagger' Norris. And what of Paul (seems like a nice boy) Stone, and Hayes' Parliamentary researcher. Hayes and Stone had a homosexual relationship — the pair of them sleeping at The Sloane Club. Stone, a former Young Conservative Chairman was under age at the time of the alleged affair. Stone backed his claim by producing Hayes' love letters to him. Stone said Hayes was a hypocrite for pretending to stand for family values, and according to his own version, decided to kiss and tell after Hayes wouldn't leave his wife and family for him — in other words, the classic story of a woman scorned.

The Tories, ever sensitive as to the sexual perversions of their MPs, went through the roof when they saw the new (and now withdrawn) Guinness ad in FHM magazine. Dr. Mahwinney personally leant on Guinness to withdraw the advert, which they did, and which showed a Tory sado-masochist with echoes of disgraced MP for Eastleigh, Stephen Milligan who was found dead dressed in women's underwear, high heels and suspenders. He had gagged himself with a satsuma in his mouth, put a plastic bag over his head and managed to truss himself up. The verdict on that incidentally, was that Milligan died after a bizarre sexual experiment.

The Guinness ad, which obviously touched a raw nerve shows a similar Tory pervert. A photograph of John Major can be seen on the wall behind the man, as can a bowl of oranges. Guinness say that not everything in black and white makes sense...

RACIAL ATTACK FAMILY WIN RIGHT TO MOVE

A White boy of 11 has won the right to have his family rehoused following a campaign of anti-white racial hatred.

Little Simon Bradford and his family have suffered four years of unrelenting racial hatred at the hands of their neighbours.

Their appeal to Tower Hamlets council to be rehoused because of the race-hate campaign was turned down, despite the council's normally quick response time when dealing with non-white council tenants in a similar situation. In fact, normally the council would have mounted a big effort to evict the perpetrators of this kind of activity. They didn't however because Simon and his family don't count — they are only white.

Simon had been attacked with a cricket bat, knocked off his bike, and been subjected to racial taunts and name calling.

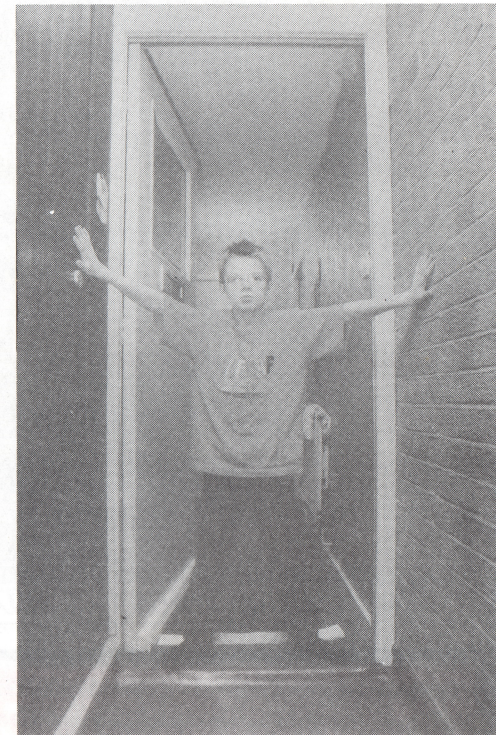

Simon's crippled mother has had the tyres of her motability car slashed 18 times, been beaten up twice, sexually assaulted and had her wedding ring stolen.

Excrement has been pushed through the family's front door, their flat was the subject of an attempted arson and on one occasion the family came home to find 'white trash' daubed on their front door.

In a High Court judgement, Mr. Justice Kay ruled that Tower Hamlets Council had acted unlawfully in failing to assess Simon's needs under the Child Protection Act.

The judge said: "The family has been harassed within the home by abusive and hoax telephone calls. This campaign of hatred has culminated in an attempted arson on their home and the daubing of phlegm and faeces over the door of their flat and car. Simon's solicitor called the family's story "horrific."

BLAIR FAVOURS CENSORSHIP AND SUPPRESSION

Under the headline 'Blair favours Holocaust denial ban' it became clear that Tony Blair is a lot closer to communist totalitarianism than he has hitherto let on. In communist states and also in France and Germany it is an offense punishable by years of imprisonment to say and publish things that the state does not want to hear. Of course, all these countries — from the old Soviet Union to today's China, Germany and France maintain that they have freedom of speech — subject to the law. The law of course provides a long list of the things not to be talked about.

Blair has support from Mike Gapes MP for Ilford South and professor David Cesarani who are both keen to suppress free speech and enquiry. Cesarani wrote a risible article for discredited as well? In addition, to forestall panic about global warming producing rising seas which might cover large parts of Britain, all talk and research into global warming could be censored. Anyone advancing such ideas could then be locked away for thought crimes against the state — simultaneously guarding against the possibility that such a thing might actually happen! And, from time to time, new decrees could be passed banning other heretical thoughts!

GOVERNMENT STATISTICS ARE GOVERNMENT LIES

The official Government immigration figure is 50,000 per annum. As with many government produced figures these days, this is a deliberate lie. The number of detected illegal immigrants in Britain rose by 40% in 1995 according to the Home Office. The government attempted to remove 10,000 illegals, but less than 2,000 actually went. 8,000 have 'disappeared'. The real figure for immigration is the government's 50,000, plus more than 11,000 asylum seekers allowed to stay, plus the 8,000

'disappeared' illegals, plus the 16,000 coming for a 'probationary year' to wed spouses, plus undetected illegal immigrants. The real figure must be close to 100,000 per year — just as Peter Tompkins the former head of the immigration service said it was.

The feel good factor may be creeping back into some lucky parts of Britain. John Major and his ministers are depending on it to give them a slender chance of success at the next election.

But it is a mistake to assume that all is well... the number of unemployed is more than twice the two million the government admit to. The reason? Another 2.1 million are on a different list, looking for work but claiming benefits other than the dole.

If gangs of Frenchmen were wandering around Kent stealing people's property, protected by armed French soldiers with full support from the French government, would we not expect the media to show some interest? Might we not even expect our Government to register disapproval to our EU 'partner'?

Yet what is the difference between this scenario and the bizarre drama now unfolding off Guernsey? Since December 2 a succession of French trawlers have been repeatedly sailing into Guernsey's fishing waters, catching fish reserved for the island's own fishermen. In a show of armed strength, they have been supported by two French gunboats and a French naval helicopter. Yet the Royal Navy, with a duty to protect Guernsey's fishing rights, is nowhere to be seen, and Britain has raised not a cheep of protest.

At this remove [after the war] we should really be able to discuss Jews and their Jewishness, their virtues and vices, as one can any other identifiable group, without being called anti-Semitic. Frankness does not feed anti-Semitism; secrecy, however, does. It is time to be frank about the Jews.

It is not easy. When The Spectator ran an article a couple of years ago about the new cultural leaders of the United States being Jews whose Jewishness remained publicly undiscussed, it was promptly accused of anti-Semitism — and absurdly, for its editor had the good fortune to be of Jewish extraction. Many of us are not so lucky — which is perhaps why the power of certain Jews has gone unobserved. Identifying Jews in high places is, in 1997, no more evidence of anti-Semitism than it is Paisleyite to name influential Catholics in power.

Racism that disadvantages ethnic minorities is the racism which constantly invents excuses for, or patronises, black youngsters on the grounds that their truancy, indiscipline and poor exam results are due to 18th Century slave trading rather than broken homes and drugs... In short, it's the racism of white liberals.

They are people who for whatever reason don't actually like the country where they were born and use our ethnic minorities as a way of venting their private resentments and frustrations.

Bigotry doesn't only come in a brown shirt.

Roger Rosewell,

These seem like good times for political outsiders. In Austria last weekend, Jörg Haider's Freedom Party took a record 28 per cent of the vote on an anti-establishment, anti-Europe, anti-immigrant platform. At the same time in New Zealand, Winston Peter's New Zealand First Party came from nowhere to take 13 per cent of the votes and now holds the balance of power after the country's first — proportional representation election of modern times. There have always been anti-establishment political parties, especially in the United States, but the 1990s have been a boom period. In widely different parts of the globe, populist campaigners such as Silvio Berlusconi, Ross Perot and Vladimir Zhirinovskiy have rocked and in some cases toppled the status quo. Few political cultures have been unscathed and none can be confident that they will escape in the future.

All the pre-conditions exist, in other words, for an effective populist assault on British political life. Yet, so far at least, it has not taken place. The only even briefly successful new party of modern times, the SDP, lasted for less than a decade. A succession of minor parties, ranging from the rich (the Natural Law Party and the Referendum Party) to the poor (the Greens, the Independence Party and the Socialist Labour Party) remain marginal. Under Margaret Thatcher, the Conservative Party managed to transform itself into a populist party even while retaining power, but neither Labour nor the Liberal Democrats have truly managed to capture this latent popular anger.

This ought to make Sir James Goldsmith's Referendum Party the hottest political ticket in town. On the surface, it appears to fit the bill for the long-awaited British populist party — well-financed, anti-establishment and nationalistic. It even has a programme consisting exclusively of a single populist demand — the holding of a referendum. And yet the striking thing about the Goldsmith Party is not its popular success but its lack of it. It remains a party of the élite, in this case the self-appointed élite of Sir James, his rich friends and a few media acolytes. It has no roots whatever in the soil where a populist movement ought to be strongest — among the poor, the young, or those who live outside the dominant culture of the south of England. The Referendum Party's conference in Brighton this weekend is little more than a publicity stunt, and its electoral failure is absolutely predictable. Yet does this

BNP PRE-ELECTION RALLY '97 — TRIUMPH OVER 'LIBERAL' TYRANNY AND OPPRESSION

THE party's rescheduled Annual Rally on January 25th was a stunning success and a great impulse forward for the BNP in its drive this year to prepare for the General Election, and all the more so set against a background of harassment. The knowledge of party members that the BNP had overcome such obstacles to hold the rally generated a special atmosphere. It was the atmosphere of victory in adversity, of a two-fingered salute to the enemies of freedom, democracy and the BNP.

An excellent (and cheap) venue meant that when the party's traditional collection was made, more than £1,000 was saved — the saving going straight into the party's coffers and which would otherwise have gone to the original venue's management. As it was, the excellent atmosphere led to a fantastic collection conducted, as ever, by David Bruce of more than £4,600.

The rally was well attended with numbers up on last year, and with the expected good behaviour from everyone making it both a disciplined and enjoyable occasion. It was standing room only as the hall filled up and latecomers had to line the side and the back before the rally began which was chaired by Dr. Donald Stevens, a favourite speaker from the Hampshire region.

Union flags provided the backdrop to the rally which was specially lit up and filmed, the video of which should be available soon.

Starting the rally off were regional round-ups from around the country reporting on the state of progress in the party's main regions as to contesting the forthcoming General Election.

First off the block was Keith Axon, West Midlands Regional Organiser, who reported on his region where the party is contesting three seats — two in Birmingham and one in the rural constituency of Leominster. Keith also recounted the council meetings West Midlands activists had attended at which embarrassing questions have been asked of councillors such as how they're wasting taxpayers money — Keith finished by saying others should do the same: "Cause a stir," he said.

John Peacock, Regional Organiser for the East Midlands, gave an account of the progress of the party's election preparations in Leicester and Ashfield and singled out several individuals who had done particularly good work on the party's behalf. John spoke of recruitment and how the East Midlands was currently chasing W. Midlands recruitment — all good healthy rivalry. In addition, Mr. Peacock detailed contact with good nationalist folk overseas in Spain, Hungary and elsewhere.

Chris Jackson, Regional Organiser for the North West told of the party's election preparations in his region, which amounts to contesting four and possibly even five seats.

Regional Organiser, Scott McLean spoke for Scotland and told the rally that Scotland BNP would be contesting three seats this year, its best ever effort. Scott finished by saying: "1997 will be the year of opportunity for the BNP."

David Jones, the party's prospective candidate for Cardiff (see story below) spoke for the West and Wales. It was a stirring speech. He said: "The enemy is liberal internationalism and we have to raise the British people from their despair and despondency — and teach them how to justifiably reassert themselves!"

Dave King spoke for London and told the audience how the various London regions would be fielding more than twenty candidates at the next election! It is a big effort, Dave said — but big rewards would follow.

José Ramos, an overseas guest, spoke next about the importance of white unity, and poignantly of freedoms being lost all over the white world — which had special significance to everyone in the hall. All over the Western world, he said, government was stripping people of their freedoms and liberties. José said that we must all, in our respective countries, battle against the force of liberal totalitarianism, now emerging as a major threat to freedom and democracy.

The next speaker was Spearhead contributor Nick Griffin, who made a lively and entertaining speech, but which started off on the sober theme of state harassment. After the events of the day, no-one was in any doubt as to the seriousness of the subject when he told of the recent raids made on himself and another BNP member. And all at the behest of an MP who doesn't share their political beliefs! Nick also spoke of many good folk wasting their time in small fringe nationalist parties. He said that he had, in the past, wasted his own time in tiny obscure nationalist groups: "I know about it because I've done it myself."

Nick spoke of his conversion to the BNP. "In 1993 things were getting worse, and I watched with growing interest and admiration events unfold in Millwall." "I noticed myself saying 'they' should be doing this, and 'they' should be doing that, and then I realised it's what I should be doing." He said all eyes are now fixed on the election, and the enemy is very much about the BNP getting free publicity, hitting the big time, and the party's strategy of doorstep canvassing also underpins their confrontational strategy. Nick finished by saying: "They're all worried they're right to be. It's not just the hubbub here today or the several thousand here today; It's not just the tens of thousands of presently inactive nationalists who

BNP VOTE UP IN NEWHAM

Last month, the party contested a council ward by-election in Newham, East London and increased the party's share of the vote compared to a similar by-election back in late November. Then, branch Organiser Colin Smith stood himself to gain 5.5 per cent of the vote in Forest Gate ward which was an increase on the 3 per cent votes the party obtained in council by-elections in Hackney before that.

This time, the candidate was Michael Davidson standing for Central ward which is in East Ham. Michael stood as a candidate in the 1994 council elections and came within 65 votes of winning a council seat. He also suffered an appalling attack by violent left-wing thugs which left him without the sight in one eye. Afterwards, brave Michael said: "I am not going to let this deter me." True to his word, Michael has stood as a party candidate again and this time won 7.3 per cent of the vote, marking an upward trend in the party's vote.

The results were: Labour 910 votes (72.3%); Conservative 258 votes (20.5%); and BNP 91 votes (7.3%).

This result is particularly gratifying when it is considered that the ward is only 37 per cent white. In other words, Michael scooped 20 per cent of the white vote!

The campaign was low key with, it has to be said, little work being done at all. That makes the vote, if not the campaign, even more remarkable. BNP congratulates both Michael Davidson and all campaign helpers involved.

VACANCY

There are still vacancies left for General Election candidacies where people are desperate to vote for the BNP at the next election. All patriots wishing to be considered to represent the party should write to PO. Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW enclosing a political c.v.

There are no residential qualifications and seats could well be (and almost certainly will be) half way across the country from any candidate's home town. All that is required is that candidates are party members and over 21-years of age.

BNP ELECT

When the British National Party contests the next General Election the party will have distributed, courtesy of the Post Office, some two-million leaflets that will reach more than four-million voters.

For the BNP, this will be a massive recruitment exercise and also a mass exercise in fighting elections. Some time after the next General Election when the public finally sees through Labour (who BNP believes will win), there will be enormous opportunities for the BNP. Having done our recruiting in this election and having trained branch organisers right across the country in the necessities of fighting elections, the party will be well placed to take advantage of any opportunity which presents itself.

Following a recent successful planning meeting in Cardiff, David Jones, third from left in photo, has been adopted as the party's candidate in Cardiff in the forthcoming

General Election, although the constituency is still to be decided.

David Jones is a family man, a speaker and is looking forward to representing the party. A branch member and a member of several years standing, David spoke only last month at the pre-election rally for 1997 (see above) in Wales and the West region.

National Organiser Richard Edmonds spoke next and said that only our candidates would be speaking about the real problems facing the British electorate — about crime, immigration and economic insecurity. On the election, Richard said that it was imperative that we find the 50 plus candidates needed for our 50-seat campaign and so organise the counter attack against Lib, Lab and Con on behalf of the British people. Richard then called for a group photograph of all the party's candidates present at the rally, and in a heartwarming surge forward, more than thirty candidates joined John Tyndall at the front of the stage for this memorable occasion. After the fantastic collection was made which raised more than £4,600, John Tyndall the party's Chairman stood up to make a rousing speech stressing the importance of the next election to the BNP and made a stirring appeal for members to come forward to make themselves available as candidates for the party.

As John Tyndall said: "Your country needs you now. Not in a few months time later in the year and not next year, but now."

"We're appealing to the white British voter, we're not crawling for the Black and Asian vote, because after the BNP gets to power, there won't be an Asian or black vote." There then followed sustained applause, as everyone had in mind the recent spectacle of Prime Minister, John Major crawling for the Asian vote with a curious looking rag on his head, and holding a meeting for Indian independence — which Mr. Tyndall called a "revolting spectacle." The party Chairman commenting on

John Major's claim that the 'Rivers of blood' forecast by Enoch Powell hadn't happened said: "Where was the boy born in Brixton at the time of the Brixton riots?"

Mr. Tyndall finished: "The British people are fed up with crawling to

The Britain we want to see is an all white Britain, a decent Britain, a prosperous Britain, a Britain with jobs and hope."

SO YOU THINK WE LIVE IN A FREE DEMOCRACY?

The Annual Rally scheduled for late 1996 and held last month was a triumph of freedom and liberty over the sinister forces in this country which operate in the dark to stifle freedom, liberty and democratic life in Britain.

Just as for the party's 1995 Annual Rally, shadowy elements in the British state tried their utmost to wreck the party's rescheduled 1996 Annual Rally in an attempt to deny the party its democratic rights and freedoms.

In 1995, the hand of the state was blatantly obvious and enquiries by the party ascertained that the police, who accord stifling free speech and freedom of assembly greater priority than catching murderers and child molesters, had coerced hotel management into cancelling the party's booking warning of 'likely disturbances'. Hotel management told enquiring party officials that the calls had come from the local police station — presumably at the behest of Britain's state security police known as Special Branch.

This year, learning from their mistake of direct involvement — which was publicised by the BNP — the details of the party's Annual Rally, almost certainly obtained through telephone taps and covert surveillance of senior officials, was leaked to the party's opponents and to the news media. Britain's very own Stasi no doubt figured that they could rely on these elements to do the job for them. They were correct.

At around 6.00 p.m. on the evening before the party's rally, the rally venue management phoned to cancel the booking. They had been threatened all through the day by the enemies of freedom and democracy who had themselves been informed by the state security police only that day in order to cause the party the maximum inconvenience and disruption.

It wasn't until the last possible moment on the day of the rally itself that party officials managed to secure another venue and the rally went ahead. It was at this point that the state eventually revealed its hand, when the minions of totalitarian liberalism, in the shape of the local constabulary castigated the manager of the final rally venue for daring to hire his premises to a perfectly law-abiding and lawfully constituted political party. The manager bluntly told them that it was a legal hire, that everyone was perfectly well behaved and that it was no business of theirs!

That the rally went ahead at all was a triumph of tenacity, initiative and the 'never say die' spirit of British Nationalism. It was a victory for free speech, a victory for democracy in its best sense and a victory for the British National Party while at the same time being a sharp poke in the eye for the enemies of freedom and the British way of life.

What this shows very clearly is that Britain, once the mother of Parliaments and free speech, has degenerated into something very akin to a totalitarian banana republic. There is a thin veneer of decency and lip service to democracy, but underneath the reality is very different. It is a fact that of all the Western 'democracies', Britain is the least free with the least accountability, the most draconian laws to stifle protest, the most wide ranging police powers, the least individual freedom and worst of all there is no legal remedy, and there is no bill of rights.

Britain desperately needs a whole raft of legislation guaranteeing the freedoms its people have hard won over generations. We need a lawful guarantee of freedom of speech; we need a lawful guarantee of freedom of assembly; we need a lawful guarantee of freedom of distribution; we need lawful guarantees of the freedom of political parties to operate without state harassment. The British National Party believes in all of these things, and would pass such legislation into law. The British National Party knows full well what totalitarianism means, because the BNP has suffered it.

The efforts of those who would stifle freedom and debate must be resisted. Freedom must prevail over the new book burners and destroyers, over the intolerance of the haters and the bigots. The British National Party is the only political party in Britain today with a manifesto commitment to freedom of speech: The BNP is the party of freedom against the new liberal totalitarianism. Long live freedom!

There has been a long term Nationalist presence in Cardiff stretching back years. BN editor, John Morse contested a Cardiff seat in the 1992 General Election and the party was represented in the 1994 council elections in the city, as part of a long term BNP interest in Cardiff and South Wales.

There is an understanding in South Wales of the need for the British National Party. In particular, Cardiff is suffering with sharply increased immigration and crime — exactly the same problems of other British cities.

DEVON BNP REFORMED

Following the dropping of Devon group BNP, from December's unit listing, Devon BNP has been reformed under the very active and able leadership of Steven Parnell. Basic activities have already started with more than 2,000 leaflets going out in January.

The group is also planning to expand its campaigning to villages, towns and cities throughout the county of Devonshire which have never heard the party's message

There is much support in the region for the BNP and local fisherfolk have pleaded for a candidate to vote for in neighbouring Cornwall. The party wishes that it could, but this seems extremely unlikely for such a new group of the party. Devon BNP will, however, assist in the party's election drive in Bristol.

Local members are asked to make themselves available to assist in this area for the party.

GENERAL ELECTION FUND

TARGET: £10,000; TOTAL RAISED: £7,597

The party urgently needs to raise £10,000 in a very short time to meet contingency bills for the running of the party's General Election campaign from the centre. This fund is entirely separate from locally organised election funds, whose purpose will be to raise money to finance local candidates. This central fund is intended to build up an adequate financial reserve to ensure that the party has an efficient headquarters organisation and is able to meet numerous expenses which will be involved in the central running of its election machine.

The making of a professional video for the party's political broadcast has now been finished aside from minor editing. This showcase for the party has not come cheap and has cost around £1,500 for camera hire fees alone. Even so, this is cheap by industry standards.

Other costs include printing costs of the party's election manifesto; the hire of mobile telephones to assist organisers managing various campaigns; travel expenses incurred by personnel touring the country and in the transport of election literature to various constituencies; special publicity projects and not least, paying the printer a considerable sum in advance for the printing of the party's election addresses (Two million leaflets don't come cheap!). It is for this purpose the party is targeting to raise £10,000.

Last month, the appeal raised £999 leaving the party with just £2,403 to raise. BN wishes to thank all those who have donated to the fund over the last month. Just one more heave! Help us raise the money we need. The party urgently needs YOUR help. All readers should contribute to this fund. THERE IS NOT MUCH TIME LEFT — please give and please give now!

All donations should be marked 'General Election Fund' and sent to: PO. Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW

The threat to Scotland

OUR FUTURE?

The scene above is from a school in Moss Side, Manchester. Can you spot the white dot? Such schools will become commonplace in Scotland before long if we just sit back and do nothing.

GUESS WHERE!

Kareesh? Hyderabadi? London? Bradford? No, this is Glasgow Central Mosque, situated on the banks of the Clyde near the city centre. There's already a strong Asian presence in Scotland – and it's growing!

WE SAY...

- Stop all further non-European immigration
- Introduce phased, humane and financially assisted repatriation of all non-Europeans to their lands of ethnic origin
- KEEP SCOTLAND WHITE!

THE EAGLES HAVE CRASH LANDED

The House of Commons is positively infested with lawyers. Tony Blair — he of the toothy grin and the shifty eyes — is a lawyer. He is backed up by his good lady Cherie who is the famed lesbians' lawyer. His predecessor John Smith was a lawyer. There are more lawyers in the House than you can shake a stick at or hit with a stick. It is almost like some permanent shysters convention.

No wonder that they are forever enacting laws that nobody wants and certainly nobody needs. One would have thought however that with all that concentrated brainpower of this monstrous flock of legal eagles, the legislation they foist upon us would at least be watertight if not comprehensible.

Not a bit of it. Their legislation is forever being challenged in courts and on many occasions overturned.

The worst example was perhaps the occasion on which the Prison Service released felons with multiple concurrent sentences by totting up remission on all of them. It was even suggested that the crooks should receive compensation for being illegally detained.

That interpretation was overthrown by the courts because of its patent absurdity yet the fact remains that it was so sloppily drafted that it was capable of such a ludicrous interpretation.

Whenever one hears of such lunacies, and they are many, one is moved to groan; "My God, can't they do anything right?"

The question is purely rhetorical of course. We all know the answer to that one.

ON THE WRONG TRAIN

I've never accepted a bribe in my life. Come to think of it, I've never been offered one. I prefer to believe that it is because of my unimpeachable rectitude that nobody has ever dared to offer me one. On the other hand, it may be that I've never been considered to be worth bribing. That is deeply depressing.

No doubt all those MP's who've also never been offered a bribe feel quite put out by it and are goaded into a positive frenzy of moral zeal whenever they uncover evidence that some other MP has been lining his pockets while theirs are empty. As for those MP's who have accepted backhanders I really do feel that they have let the country down. I mean, a thousand quid here, a thousand there, and ten-thousand for a permanent retainer. Have they no ambition? What cheapskates! I have visions of them backing out of the presence of some Arab potentate — bowing low and clutching at the handful of coins contemptuously tossed to them.

They should cast their eyes to the Continent, where politicians graft on an epic scale. Such men would never graft for peanuts. They think big — they think in terms of millions.

Of course one realises that our MP's are not paid very much and that the best that most of them can do to top up their measly wage is to fiddle their mileage allowances. But then the reason they are paid so little is that there are just too many of them; there simply isn't enough graft to go round.

SPREADING THE WORD

British National Party Handbook on PROPAGANDA

SPREADING THE WORD is a handbook on propaganda that has been produced by the British National Party to supplement its Activists' Handbook published last year. Spreading The Word is illustrated and runs to 60 pages. It contains five sections, namely: (1) General Principles of Propaganda; (2) Recruitment; (3) Canvassing for Elections; (4) Speaking to the Media; and (5) Speaking from the Platform and Presentation of Party Meetings. This handbook devotes special attention to familiar enemy smears against the BNP and nationalists generally, advising the reader on the best techniques for dealing with these, whether they be raised in the process of trying to recruit new members, when canvassing voters on the doorstep or when taking part in interviews with the press, radio or television. The handbook is a mine of information on every problem involved in spreading the nationalist message and winning support for the BNP. It costs £1.50 plus 36p p&p.

NEW AUDIO TAPE

The first of a new series of audio-tapes produced by the British National Party. It consists of two recorded studio talks by BNP Chairman John Tyndall, these are: The BNP: a movement for the new century — an exposition of the main BNP policies; and Time For Action! — a summons to the lazy and apathetic to stir themselves and get involved. £6.00 plus 36p p&p.

UNDERCLASS GROWING

Richard Lynn, emeritus professor of psychology at the University of Ulster has just had his book Dysgenics: Genetic Deterioration of Modern Populations published to critical acclaim. He said: "Natural selection has broken down. In centuries past, it did the job for us of weeding out those with low moral character or low intelligence. There was a high mortality rate. Now the underclass survive and have children. Obviously some measures need to be taken... We have to get into social engineering to prevent a complete social breakdown."

Just think, 660 of them to run a country of our size so badly. In the USA, which is about a hundred times our size and has five times our population, they make do with 535 legislators — 100 in the Senate and 435 in the House of Representatives. You couldn't bribe them for a thousand quid. They think in megabucks.

But of course, the mistake our MP's have made is in thinking small. They really should have been aiming at the European Parliament. For the President of the European Commission, Jacques Santer, has just announced that he is cracking down on the MEP's who have been fiddling their expense accounts. It is said that Italian MEP's have got this down to such a fine art and make so much money claiming expenses they haven't incurred, that it's almost as good as being in the Mafia.

And then there are their daily living allowances; a cool £175 quid a day. Most MEP's simply turn up at the Parliament, clock on, and then go home.

The truth is that our badly paid MP's are victims of their own sloth and lack of ambition. I bet there are

SHOP GREEDY UNPATRIOTIC BOSSES!

It has taken more than thirty years of mass immigration for Tories to adopt measures active in the US, in an effort to stem company bosses seeking illegal immigrants as cheap labour. This month, companies face £5,000 fines for the employment of illegals. Particularly bad employers could face fines of £100,000. The British National Party is well known as a law and order party. BN can't think of a better way to show it than to urge all readers to inform the Home Office of any suspected lot more Eurosceptics now that they find they have climbed aboard the wrong gravy train. They could have been travelling first class to Strasbourg and they would have been in clover.

NO 'EAD FOR BUSINESS

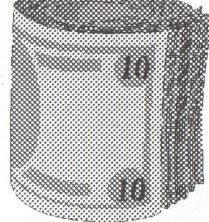

My boys! My boys! You've got no head for business. When I read the papers, I could weep. What do I read in the papers? I read that the Anne Frank Foundation in Amsterdam and the Anne Frank Fund in Basle are cutting each other's throats over the right to use her name to rake in the shekels.

They must be crazy. My boys, there's plenty for everyone if you only use your noodles.

I mean, you've got this Otto Frank in Switzerland slagging off the Dutch Foundation for mocking her sacred name by peddling cheap trinkets and ballpoint pens with her name on them. I ask you, what's wrong with that? I've been doing it round the markets for years.

So what about the ballpoint pens? Don't you see it? Well look. That Anne Frank was a pretty smart girl. I mean she was only fifteen yet employers of illegal aliens, together with full details of the suspected illegal and dates worked etc.

Some people put money before everything. Help them lose it with a big fine — shop 'em!

everyone says that her diary reads like it was written by someone twice her age. And part of the diary was written in ballpoint pen. Get it?

How many ballpoint pens do you suppose have been produced? Billions, my boys, billions:

Some Hungarian guy called Ladislao Biro claimed to have invented the ballpoint pen yet Anne Frank was using one years before he put it on the market. How could that be? Simple; Anne Frank invented the ballpoint pen and this Biro guy snatched it.

Think of all the royalties we're owed. Think of all the royalties to come. My boys, it makes the ransom that the Yanks pay to Israel every year look like peanuts.

So how do we prove that Anne Frank invented the ballpoint pen? Easy! The diary proves it. This guy Biro is dead so he won't be complaining. If any other guy turns nasty and tries to make trouble, we simply do what we've always done; say he's anti-Semitic and watch him run for cover.

It's so simple my boys. Trouble is, you've got no 'ead for business.

FREE DENMARK

In Denmark, one of the most genuinely liberal countries in Europe, pressure is growing to put an end to free speech in the wake of the letter bombs sent out by neo-nazis there and addressed to targets in Britain.

The leader of this band of freaks turns out to be half Japanese — so much for the principle of racial purity!

Police also report that the Danish/Japanese nazis are connected with Britain's C18 — the band of ne'er do wells and psychotic nazi crack-pots that the BNP proscribed several years ago.

Two things stand out from this episode: First, the popular public perception of Nazism as evil incarnate with no redeeming features has again been publicly confirmed — along with the type of crank attracted to it; and secondly, how the new totalitarians of today — so-called 'liberals' use the slightest excuse to cut down on real freedom and democracy.

Sending letter bombs has nothing at all to do with freedom of speech. To pretend otherwise is dishonest. The Danes should prosecute the freaks for sending letter bombs and leave laws to curb freedom of speech well alone.

FINLAND GETS AIDS

In a blow for race-relations in Finland, it has been revealed that a Black American has infected up to 200 Finnish girls with AIDS.

The 'American', Steven Thomas, has been charged with manslaughter in Helsinki.

Thomas had unprotected sex with at least one-hundred and possibly two-hundred girls over six years while knowing that he was infected.

Dozens of stupid race-mixing Finnish girls have already tested positive for the virus.

FRANCE

Brigitte Bardot has been cleared of inciting racial hatred in Paris.

The complaint against Bardot, now 62, was made by unpatriotic anti-racist groups keen to see an end to free speech in France.

She had said: "My country, France, my fatherland is once again being invaded, with the blessing of our leaders, by an overpopulation of foreigners, notably Muslims."

RACE-MIXING DOESN'T WORK

British Nationalist has always warned that multi-racialism seriously destabilises society and wrecks lives.

Stupid race-mixer Michelle Marston thought Mohammed Ayub was a real charmer when she met him in West Yorkshire when she was 19-years-old. She suffered caught her trying to escape — out of the toilet window — he beat her with a toilet brush, raped and buggered her.

The bruising covered her chest, thighs and arms. Ayub, was held on remand and after his conviction was released because he had spent thirteen months on remand.

'Charming' Ayub's next trick was to latch onto another stupid race-mixer, Susan Iqbal, whom he also

TORY DISGRACE

John Major's 'dream' of a racial melting pot with more ethnic minorities being elected to the Commons, particularly with the Tory party, took a turn for the worse in America just before Christmas when black Tory candidate, Derek Laud was arrested by American police for driving while intoxicated, driving while unlicensed and failing to keep on the right side of the road. Mr. Laud was arrested after his car was in collision with another vehicle which resulted in four people being taken to hospital. Laud faces a year's imprisonment.

AYUB, the double-murderer: part of John Major's 'dream' and everyone else's nightmare regularly locked into her home, while he repeatedly buggered her daughter Nicola. Ayub killed Nicola just after Christmas 1994 and then killed his best friend, Shakir Khan, who had helped him dispose of the body.

John Major talks of his 'dream' of a multi-racial melting pot. The reality of the dream is less dreamy. The reality is needless deaths, wrecked lives and devastated families. Under a British National Party government these terrible crimes by Ayub would not have been committed. Then again, under a British National Party government, Ayub would have been thousands of miles away in his own country.

Two-thirds of British people feel that the EU interferes too much in British life. One-third of people would vote for complete withdrawal from the EU.

ANTI-WHITE RACISM AT FORDS

Fords Motor Company is still in trouble at its Dagenham plant with the Transport and General Workers Union (TGWU) over a race row.

Black and Asian staff claim racism because the truck fleet is nearly all-white. Fords have agreed to pay off the complainants with several thousand pounds each. But absolutely nothing has been said about the anti-white racism which exists and which was hushed up by the entire national media.

Last summer, the tribunal was told that one Ford driving assessor said: "It's not my fault if Pakis can't drive. We are too concerned with Pakis and blacks in this company. It's all a lot of bollocks."

The climb-down and payout by Fords isn't enough for Bill Morris, the black boss of the TGWU, who wants more non-whites hired onto the truck fleet.

The 300 Dagenham drivers retaliated by voting to leave the TGWU and join the United Road Transport Union (URTU). These 300 workers have it in their power to stop all Ford production at any time and so occupy a strong position.

Bill Morris promptly accused the URTU of "compromising with racism," but the head of URTU retorted that he was taking "no lectures from Johnny-come-latelies." (It is not known if this was a reference to Bill Morris' immigration status).

Ford are keeping out of the dispute because they do not want to antagonise either union which might bring their factories to a stop.

One of the interesting statistics which kept being bandied around is that 45 per cent of Ford shop floor workers are from ethnic minorities, yet only 2 per cent of the truck fleet is non-white, hence the action by the TGWU by going to the tribunal.

Yet in focussing on the 2 per cent of non-whites in the truck section, the blatant discrimination on the shop floor — in favour of ethnic minorities — that is the anti-white discrimination which exists at Fords was completely hushed up.

Ford is generally known as a good employer which treats its staff well and pays above the average. Ford jobs are consequently much sought after, yet ethnic minorities account for 45 per cent of the jobs! How is this? Ethnic minorities are not 45 per cent of the population, nor are they 45 per cent of London or even of East London.

This story is another example of alleged 'white racism' which turns out to be completely the opposite. The design of such propaganda is to make white people feel guilty. They shouldn't. White people need only look at the Ford truck drivers. They know the game being played. They know the reality of the situation and that's why they quit the TGWU — before the truck fleet becomes 45 per cent non-white just like the shop floor! BN salutes the Ford truck drivers.

Letters

Write to: The Editor, British Nationalist, PO Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW.

Sir,
Please find enclosed cheque for £20 as renewal of my BNP membership. I think the next twelve months could prove to be the most important yet in the growth of the BNP.

D. Summers,
Cheshire.

Sir,
Your November headline 'Free Trade = Unemployment' was a timely reminder to the dangers facing the British people from cheap labour rates of third world countries.

As a truck driver for a big chain store, I see first hand the effect of cheap imports. My store imports vast quantities of foreign goods including shoes from Vietnam and Bangladesh. It is known that the average Vietnamese worker toils for just one 48th of a British worker.

No wonder these multi-national companies care nothing for our people. The altar of high profit is their master

Only the BNP advocate the solution — British ownership and control of British industry and resources!

James Burns
Cheshire.

Sir,
I recently read of an English couple who took their daughter on holiday to Turkey. She was only ten-years-old and suffered kidnap attempts, men stalking around the hotel and offers to purchase her — all supposedly because of her long blonde hair. A warning I think, for anyone holidaying abroad.

K. Richards,
Liverpool.

Sir,
Many thanks for the information pack you sent me recently about your organisation.

Although I do not necessarily agree with all of the party's aims, I do sufficiently support the overall aims to consider myself a supporter.

D. Kidd,
Surrey.

Sir,
I would like to convey my total support for the BNP, and wish you all the best in the future because you are Britain's only hope.

I am a loyal British subject, proud of my unique British identity, heritage and culture. I value and cherish my British citizenship above all and wouldn't hesitate to fight and die for my beloved Queen and Country — as many of my fellow Ulstermen have done through the ages for the British cause.

I am very saddened and angered to see our great British nation being destroyed and our culture and way of life under threat from those who would force us into a European superstate, which would undoubtedly continue into a one-world government.

Britain is one of the biggest obstacles to that aim. The promotion of multi-racialism is calculated to destroy the British as a people and thereby force acquiescence to their schemes. The antidote to this poison is a knowledge of one's own national history to appreciate one's unique identity and how it came about, was defended and prospered.

Our ancestors fought to defend our land from the Spanish, French and Germans. But the present generation of Britons has been cowed into silence and inaction while the biggest invasion in our history is taking place.

Britons must wake up and vote BNP if Britain and the British people are to survive.

Martin Keys, Belfast.

Sir,
Enclosed is my money for this year's membership of the party. There is also £10 for the general election fund. Good luck for the year.

Jason Noon,
Surrey.

What we stand for

- The establishment of a government of national unity that will put an end to nationally divisive party warfare; the return of leadership and statesmanship to British affairs.
- An end to immigration and a start to repatriation.
- British withdrawal from the European Community: trade with Europe where it suits us but no political ties.
- The disbanding of the multi-racial Commonwealth and its replacement by a new Commonwealth of self-governing white states.
- British ownership and control of British industry and resources.
- Protection of British industry by the selective exclusion of foreign manufactured goods from the British market.
- An end to the financial swindle that causes inflation and slump, and its replacement by a sane and fair financial system that will give the people the purchasing power to buy the goods they produce.
- The subordination of the power of the City to the power of Government, and the harnessing of the City to the needs of British industry.
- The regeneration of British farming, with the object of achieving the maximum self-sufficiency in food; also the restoration of the fishing industry by protection of our traditional fishing grounds.
- A healthy environment for a healthy people — the protection of our countryside and an end to the architectural disfigurement of our towns and cities.
- Tougher treatment of criminals, including the return of the death penalty.
- A return to traditional methods of education, with stronger discipline in the classroom and the sacking of 'trendy' teachers.
- An alternative defence strategy: withdrawal from NATO; closure of all foreign military and air bases in Britain; British withdrawal from the war in former Yugoslavia, where no British interest is at stake; the bringing home of British forces from Germany; the strengthening of Britain's defences and a position of armed neutrality.
- An end to overseas aid and the allocation of the money saved to the financing of repatriation and greater help for the needy at home.
- The crushing of the IRA, the termination of the Anglo-Irish agreement and firm support for the loyalist majority in Northern Ireland.
- A return to healthy moral values aimed at strengthening the family and community.
